Alfred Wiederhold Books

PDF copy to be included in CD, and AAfamilyFilesForTheWeb/5+UploadToWeb.

Twelve books, covering genealogical data of Wiederholds all over the world, were produced by Paul Alfred Wiederhold (1918~1993) from his typed sources. A set was purchased by Gio Wiederhold about 1992. About 1200 pages and charts, were scanned into pdf format March 2010, with a few recent rescans. The last major update of this note was 20 November 2016.

The set of scans can be provided in raw form, or with my work annotations (distinctly red) on a CD.

About 50% of the data have been entered into an Ancestry Family Tree file: GioMasterFTW, in either the Family Tree maker 2014 format or in the GED 5.5 interchange format. Data from many other sources, German, Dutch, Finish, and Swiss, were used and are cited as well. That file, about 32 Mbytes now, can be appended to the CD. A subset as of 2015 is provided on-line at <http://www.myheritage.com/site-family-tree-177382382/wiederhold?familyTreeID=2>.

On the on-line version recent names are elided for privacy reasons and areas undergoing validation are omitted. I hope to have a next release early 2018, which would include all known Wiederholds born before 1800 as well as those that have known recent descendants in the US, Chile, and the Netherlands. Note that this genealogy is used as a working document, and to enable its use some tentative information and relationships are entered. Such entries are always identified and justified.

Important notes for that copy are:

1. The page location of the Alfred Wiederhold sources is entered as a special attribute: AlfredW. location. Although the FTW format allows a formal detailed identification of source entries, using that format for every Alfred W. genealogy page is just too tedious. When useful, a generation level as `VI' is given. That attribute field is used for other reference details as well.
2. The formal source citations to the book refer mainly to parts of sections of the Alfred Wiederhold books, typically covering two generations, but also to the many other archival sources. Major archives used are the Indische Regeerings Almanak (RA) from the Centraal Bureau voor Genealogie in The Hague, citations located in the 185 volumes of the Deutsche Geschlechter Bücher (DGB), obtained as DVDs, and Internet files at MyHeritage, Geneanet, Ancestry.com, and the Wikipedias in multiple languages. I have also been able to buy transcripts or their extracts from some towns where many Wiederholds lived, specifically from the Eichsfeld region of Thüringen. Many there were engaged in cloth-making. The advent of mechanical weaving machines impoverished the area, and many emigrated from that region around 1850. In the spring of 2018 I was also able to buy a book "Stammtafeln von Warburg" and that provided linkages to Alfred Wiederhold's main lines. That data allows track the ancestry of most Widerholds to 1229 when a Volland (father of a Wedderold), a judge, became mayor of Marsberg in Westfalen, Germany, and to 1184 on Wedderold's grandmother's side.
3. To facilitate research, missing birth years have been estimated as "Abt" for all undated entries. The method used for the estimation is given in the associated description field. A birth year is often based a 25 years' gap up or down for generational distance, 2 years between siblings, or set to be equal to a spouse's birth date. When a birth entry is annotated as having been computed, it is typically based on a recorded age from a census entry, a burial record, or a gravestone. If I made the estimate I show the reason in the notes, as '25 years before marriage'.

4. Where linkages among distinct Wiederhold lines are not documented, a careful analysis was made to establish the best possible link, if at all feasible. Searches were made through the DGB, Internet files, and collected citations primarily from Geneanet. The reasons for a linkage made are briefly explained in the Date-of-Birth description field. Longer explanations, when needed, are found in markups on the source documents. Many linkages had to be made for the charts in the 4 Verschiedene Orte books. Those represented collected notes, mainly made by Alfred Wiederhold, in various localities where there many Wiederholds. If there is no Date-of-Death then the person might have married out of town or moved for other reason. Such a person may then appear without a birth record in another locality. When making matches, criteria used are
 - a. Name match or similarity. The given name "Johannes" may disappear – the word derives from a term 'God willing' and was not always recorded after baptism. Then other given names may become the primary name. A common abbreviation in church books: "Jo'es" is always expanded, but other alternatives, as Johann and Joannes are kept.
 - b. For names recorded in multiple records, the native spelling is chosen, as 'Willem van Oranje' for Dutch princes, rather than "Wilhelm von Oranien" or "William of Orange". When noble or royal names are used in the literature without family names, as "Prins Willem", family names are appended and titles are omitted. For royals the name typically identifies the country, as Henry VIII. of England or Heinrich IV. HRR for the emperor of the Holy Roman Reich. Titles commonly appear in the Occupation category. For some countries the German spelling was chosen, as "von Polen". For nobles and royalty that used only first names, and perhaps a generation code, the country is added, so that the "George V." becomes George V. of England, to distinguish him from other Georges.
 - c. Often dates are missing. I need birthdates for matching, so, if missing they are estimated as 'About'. Birthdays of children should fall between age 16 and 46 of their mothers'. Unfortunately, many wives have birthdays estimated as equal to their husbands. In practice wives may be from about 5 years younger to 20 years older, with some exceptions. If there are siblings, ages may be constrained to a narrower range.
 - d. Location match: Until the 1900's people moved little – unless they were rich or in the military, they had to walk. For a Hessian soldier or mercenary, or a tradesman a location change is more likely.
 - e. Matching of relationships. After family names, prime factor is continuation of given names. Parents would name their children after themselves, godparents or other close relatives. Similar given names over generations increase the likelihood of a match. In times and countries where patronyms are common those provide good linkage information. Obvious patronyms, often optional, are entered as lower case.

All these factors are considered when making a new linkage. If new information becomes available any tentative linkage may be validated or be changed.
5. All non-systematic spelling variations of Wiederhold family names are given as "Wiederhold", and alternate original spelling and misspellings are entered into the 'Also Known as (AKA)' field, allowing broader search and matching. Alternate commonly encountered are listed below in a Section “Alternate Names”. That section also lists names used in subtrees where an alternate spelling became consistent.

6. The spelling and designation of localities is intended to follow spelling and political boundaries at that time of the events. For instances, Netherlands East Indies refers to the area that became Indonesia after 1947. German states are especially messy in that respect and edits are ongoing.
7. Initially, Umlauts as the letter ü was often entered as ue, ö as oe, ä as ae, and the German double-s, ß as ss. Those spellings are being corrected as encountered. The sources are inconsistent as well.
8. The distributed working scan of the book has been marked by a red line or a yellow marker to indicate sections that were entered into FTW. There are also many additional editing notations, always in red.

Overview and status of the 12 volumes:

The files are now on my main computer, Germignaga, as C:/Users/Gio Wiederhold/My Documents /Genealogy/MostGenealogyDocs/AlfredWiederholdBooksScannedSaved. The working files are in /Genealogy/AlfredWiederholdBooksScanned+work

There are a number of backup files and they have also been shared via CDs with other Wiederholds.

I. 55 Years of Wiederhold Family Research, 1987. 25 pages in Book 01

Transcript and notes, 21 pages. Scanned version is “.../Wiederhold/Book 01”. A historical summary – in German.

The next 5 volumes contain important text and charts. Most sections have 1 or two charts, summarizing the text. The text has been scanned in as searchable pdf. The charts were scanned separately, most in high resolution (1200p/inch), but may still have to be processed further. Because of their size, the charts typically have multiple, overlapping images. One name appearing on multiple pages is marked with a fiducial box to reduce confusion. When being entered, overlapping data are greyed. On the working files, charts were merged when they covered substantially the same Wiederhold line.

II. Stammfolgen aus Felsberg, Volume 1, 1980. About 275 pages in Book 03 + charts

The two Felsberg volumes were the earliest books published. They include in the authors (Alfred Wiederhold *1918, in Felsberg Vol.2, Section Dd p.79, 91-94) and my (Gio Wiederhold *1936, Felsberg Vol.1, Section Da p.68,75) ancestors, although sections in the Homberg books predate this work. During 2014-and 2015 I completed a thorough pass over the 2 Felsberg books, cross-checking with other sources, as the Deutsche Geschlechterbücher. All charts have been scanned in and placed on the web. All 4 text sections, D, Da, Db, and Dc (each 40 to 89 pages) have been scanned in as well and all names have been validated and entered into my Family Tree Maker file as of 15 Jan 2015.

VII. Stammtafeln Wiederhold aus Verschiedenen Orten, Volume 1, 1984.

Largely charts, all charts have been scanned in and put on the webpages and on the file in the CD: 5+uploadToWeb+personal+ancestors+charts. The total size is about 25MB.

The charts are organized by localities, related to communities Alfred Wiederhold visited and extracted information. The often refer to his notes. The charts only contain birthyears, I am adding more from other sources. I don't have access to the actual notes, I hope they have been preserved somewhere.

There are some linkages to other documents that have not been processed yet. I expect that many can be linked to the prior documents. Format:

Without that resource this large Wiederhold branch could not have been presented reliably, since the many multiple marriages, reused names could not have been resolved.

Major complementary sources

I have used a wide variety of sources, many on the Internet, but I also purchased a number of relevant books, some distributed a CDs. There are also some records of German ancestors on Wikipedia, and in listings of German preachers. Important sources I have at home are

1. In February 2015 I obtained a set of 27 CD's and DVD's containing 185 of the 223 volumes of the Deutsche Geschlechterbücher, published now by Verlag C. A. Starke, in Limburg an der Lahn. Some DGB volumes are accessible at <http://wiki-de.genealogy.net/DGB>. Entries are labeled DGB with volume (Band) and page numbers.

2. For the Eichsfeld region of Thuringa (Thüringen), squeezed between Westfalia (Westfalen) on the North-west, Hestia (Hessen) on the South-west and Saxony (Sachsen) on the east I was able to obtain a number of sources From Ewald Frankenberg:

Ortsfamilienbuch der Katholischen Pfarrgemeinde St.Johannes Bapt.. Kefferhausen , Weilerswiel, D 53919, Germany 2014. About 1600 Wiederholds, children and children's spouses, as well as matrilineal ancestors. Entries in the genealogy are labelled OFBK with source entry

Dingelstädt Kirchenbücher (on CD) (2381 Wiederhold family members). Entries are labelled KBD with source entry numbers.

Extracts of Kirchenbücher with the Wiederhold entries from Kallmerode (48), Kreuzebra near Kefferhausen (125), Silberhausen (84), Steinbach (170), and Wingerode (46). These counts include complementary entries. I would still to obtain complete sets to allow tracing of the matrilineal ancestors there.

3. A book by Rudiger Kruse: Auswander – Emigrants con – from Heuthen nach – tp America, 2017. Heuthen also in the Eichsfeld area and provides many linkages to ancestors found on the Internet and elsewhere. About 100 Wiederhold entries. In the book, total for Heuthen Wiederhold and family residents is 426.

4. Two books, one with 294 diagrams, Warburger Stammtafeln – Genealogien von Geschlechtern der Stadt Warburg und ihrer Nachbarstädte Warburg, assembled by Friedrich Joseph Liborius Heidenreich for the Westfälische gesellschaft für Genealogie and Familienforschung. These records are mainly based on official appointments and land transactions from 1100 to 1700 and require some interpretation for linkage. Entries are labelled WS with the diagram number.

5. For ancestors from the Netherlands East Indies (families von Wiederhold and Tuybens). I use mainly the 2 -DVD set

RegeringsAlmanak 1815-1900, and RegeringsAlmanak 1901-1942, issued by the Centraal Bureau voor Genealogie, Royal Library, The Hague, the Netherlands. Entries are labelled RA with the issue year.

Other Dutch ancestors I have located on visits to the Royal Library, and the records of the Vereenigde Oost-Indische Companie (VOC) there.

6. For records if Swiss ancestors (family Droz) I have used mainly Alfred Chapuis: Histoire de la Pendulerie Neuchateloise; Editions Attinger, first edition 1917, and references from that book and its successors. These are being tabulated in a spreadsheet for better matching. I also collect entries as they appear as Geneanet and MyHeritage alerts But the work on that branch is being deferred until the Wiederholds are in good shape.

While entries are being validated the Source information is being updated.

Alternative spellings of Wiederhold

The name Wiederhold is easily misspelled. Old entries are often based on what the preacher understood. In general, I entered alternate spellings as Wiederhold, to make matching and lookup consistent. The original alternate spellings are then given in the Also-Known-As (AKA) entry of the on-line genealogy. For some major consistent branches I retained the given spellings

1. Wedderold, the spelling used primarily before 1600, as in the Warburger Stammtafeln.
2. Hedrich von Wiederhold, a branch that had a formal name change
3. Weatherhold, kept for a branch that emigrated to Pennsylvania

4. Weatherholz, in the Alsace
5. Wenderhold (no Wiederhold ancestors yet)
6. Wenderoth (no Wiederhold ancestors yet)
7. Werhold, kept for a branch in the Lorraine
8. Wetterhold, kept for a branch in the Alsace
9. Widderholdt (change!) 15747-
10. Wiederholt, often in Kefferhausen, with descendants in Wisconsin

About me,

My principal work is to enter the information from a 12 Volume Wiederhold genealogy: Alfred Wiederhold, Stammfolgen Wiederhold, collected by him 1930 to 1985 and privately published 1980-1986. His, and my intent is to cover all Widerholds, since they are all related in some way. Entries are being cross-validated with sources as the 185 volumes of the Deutsche Geschlechterbücher and the Netherlands East-Indies Regerings Almanak 1814-1940 (which I have purchased), and other public sources, including Wikipedia and church biographies (Many Wiederholds were preachers). The 2 Felsberg Volumes have been completed and the 1st Homberg Volume is nearly done, the files include information from crosslinks to the other volumes, and public source, as Familypedia. Where those sources allow, I will make additions and corrections from my material

More detail is at

<http://i.stanford.edu/pub/gio/personal/ancestors>

When I am satisfied that the information is trustworthy, I update a copy at MyHeritage, as

<https://www.myheritage.com/site-family-tree-177382382/wiederhold?familyTreeID=3>

A work of that scope can always use help, so I appreciate an feedback I get.

I still work part time in my profession (Consulting on valuing Intellectual Capital), so I will not always be able to respond instantly.

I want to acknowledge help from George Molenkamp, who prepared a.o. the file

Molenkamp16+HendrikJuliusWiederhold.pdf

now available on-line.
